Naming the Summer Cottage.

For folks who own a cottage in the country, it's a fun to name it like a drinking house, an English pub, an English inn, The Cap and Bells, The Gallon Jug, Green Lion, or Twin Call.

The Spotted Dog, The Evening Mug, The Wheat-sheaf, or The Chaff. It seems to call reflections on the good name of our State. These convivial selections of names so far from great, The Cook & Bull, The Turtle Dove, The Dragon, or Great Snakes, The Horse's Necktie, Ladies' Glove, Our gravity it shakes.

So on so forth, ad nauseum. One must yearn to carouse, To name a private dwelling, For an English drinking house, The Evening Scepter, or The Toast, The Nightmare, 'Alma' Air, The sheep's head, or The Crooked Road, 'Twould make a good stout laugh.

If our cottages were bound to name, 'Twould seem a pious plan, To choose some object known to fame, A place or flower or man; Some incident in history, But at public English nomenclature Seems really too absurd.

Bachelor-Hobbs.

On Saturday noon, June 1st, at the home of the bride's father, Weston Hobbs, in West Bridgton, Alice Maud Hobbs was married to Walter Frank Bachelor of Sebago.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Wood, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church of Bridgton, in the presence of the immediate families of the bride and groom. Cora Dutton of Melrose assisted as bridesmaid while Noel Reed of Sebago officiated as best man.

In the evening a reception was held when neighbors and friends to the number of sixty assembled to pay good wishes to the bridal couple. Refreshments were served and it was a late hour when the company dispersed. A beautiful array of presents attested the popularity of Mr. and Mrs. Bachelor.

On Sunday an automobile driven by friends from Sebago came to West Bridgton to take Mr. Bachelor and wife to that town where they will make their home. It was a machine especially decorated to proclaim the estate of its guests. Festoons of ribbons and an abundance of old shoes told the story. It attracted merited attention, but while smiles greeted its passing Mrs. Bachelor had the satisfaction of knowing she was being followed by the sincerest regards of her many Bridgton friends.

Lakin-Barnard.

On Wednesday, June 5th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Barnard of North Bridgton, occurred the marriage of their only daughter, Lucia to Maurice E. Lakin of Harrison. The wedding was a quiet affair, only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom being present. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. W. Raymond of Dixfield, and the double ring service was used. The bride was daintily gowned in white satin with trimmings of insertion, and carried lilies of the valley.

Spring blossoms composed the simple decorations of the rooms, making an effective setting for the bridal party. After a social hour, during which delicious refreshments were served, the couple left on the 5 o'clock train for Portland.

Mrs. Lakin has been a successful school teacher in neighboring towns for several years; and Mr. Lakin is a well-known and highly respected young man. They received many useful and beautiful presents from their large circle of friends.

After a week spent at Ocean Park and the islands of Casco Bay Mr. and Mrs. Lakin will be at home to their friends at their farm in North Harrison.

The Heart Can't Stand Rheumatic Acid Poisoning

To Free and Correct the Blood a Urio-O Treatment is Advised.

There is great danger in those sharp, shooting pains through the chest around the region of the heart. It means that poisonous uric acid is there ready to spring and attack the muscles controlling the heart's action. It must neutralize and drive these dangerous poisons from the system, or sooner or later they will over-throw you.

The only true way to cure rheumatism is to get it from the inside with Urio-O. It acts upon the uric acid, forces the kidneys to eliminate the uric acid, and the uric acid is neutralized and driven out of the blood. Urio-O is the only remedy that will successfully and permanently cure rheumatism in any form. Scatlon, Musculin, and other remedies are not permanent cures. They only contain a morphia, opium, or other "pain killers." It is good to get relief, but it is not good to get it. Urio-O is the only remedy that will cure rheumatism all the time and they can tell you of many cases where Urio-O has made right what other remedies have made wrong.

For $1.00 and $2.00 the bottle or you can get a trial bottle free by writing to The Urio-O Co., 24-25 South Paris, Maine. This is sold and recommended in Norway, by the Noyes Drug Store.

The Paragraph Pulpit.

BY EDWIN A. RUMBALL.

"We are laborers together with God." Paul said this to a church that was split up into sects. It is well to be reminded that whatever our belief may be, if we live for the highest we perceive, we are laborers with God. Diversity of opinion is a good thing. I want heaven to be as full of varied opinions as earth. I want to meet Newman, who is convinced that Catholicism is the best church for him. I want to meet Wesley, who could be nothing if not a Methodist. I want to meet Channing who could only be a Unitarian. I want to meet Ingalls as great as we are all the same. I confess I shall be disappointed if Ingalls has turned Methodist or Channing Baptist. Diversity of opinion is largely the result of our mental make-up, our creeds choose us more than we them.

Yes, we all labor with God if we live for the highest that we conceive. There is no fence round God's vineyard. One plants, another waters and God gives the increase. By the way, I do not think Ingalls did any planting or watering, and he did not get a few old rocks out of the vineyard. Let us live for the highest, God has a place and a work for all. Let us try to be ourselves and not try to duplicate others. Every man his creed, every man his work, and God for all.

Mrs. Octavia C. Rankin.

At East Hiram, May 30, Mrs. Octavia C. Rankin passed on to the higher life.

Mrs. Rankin was born in Denmark, the daughter of Rev. J. B. O'Colly, one of the prominent Finnish Baptist ministers of his day.

In her young womanhood she married Charles Rankin of Hiram. Their wedded life of 52 years was one of unbroken harmony and happiness.

Five children came to bless the home. The eldest, Clark B. Rankin, M. D., is one of the successful physicians at Mechanic Falls.

Laura is the wife of Rev. J. A. Wiggins of Dexter; Lizzie, a very promising student, died before completing her course at Bates college.

Nancy Rankin is one of Maine's successful teachers and Mary is now Mrs. T. A. Burke of Boston.

For the past few years Mrs. Rankin has been in poor health and two years ago the youngest daughter was obliged to resign her position as teacher in the Hiram Falls school to come home to care for her mother.

The funeral was held at the home on Saturday, June 1, attended by a friend of the family, Rev. Eleanor B. Forbes of Gray.

Beside the husband, and three daughters, there was also a brother, John Colby, and a sister, Mrs. Stephen Rome of Denmark. The body was taken to Denmark, her childhood home, for burial.

Eliza F. Holt.

Eliza F. Holt died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. M. Guild, at Augusta, at about 12.30 Monday afternoon, June 20, the cause of death being apoplexy.

She was 65 years of age, and six children survive, Mrs. C. M. Guild and Mrs. R. F. Bickford of Augusta, Mrs. I. M. Richardson of Pishon's Ferry, Mrs. D. L. Joselyn of Norway, Mark T. Holt of Chicago, and Victor H. Holt of Chico, Calif.

The remains were taken to Clinton Wednesday morning and the funeral was held at the former home of the deceased in that town at 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

The Boston Journal.

Big Addition to its News and Mechanical Equipment Accomplished.

Already noted for its progressive and up-to-date policy, the Boston Journal has given new lustre to its reputation by adding to its already generous news service the complete American and foreign service of the New York Times.

The New York Times is known throughout the country as furnishing a service accurate and brilliant in every particular. Mr. Reick, for a quarter of a century the leading news editor of the New York Herald, has recently joined the Times and has already added many new features, which now come to the Journal.

The addition of this service to the regular service of the Boston Journal prominent in the readers of the Journal a daily paper unequalled by any other publication in the country.

The Boston Journal also purchased an Autoplate Stereotype equipment by which the setting and finishing of the stereotypic plates is now done by machinery instead of by hand. This is a very costly equipment, but the big increase in the Journal's circulation necessitated the gaining of every possible minute of time, and with the Autoplate they are enabled to turn out the necessary plates twice as quickly as by hand.

This addition places the Journal's mechanical outfit among the very best in the newspaper world.

WATERFORD.

Fish Story with Truth Flavor.

MR. EDITOR:—The majority of "fish stories" have such an utter air of improbability that it must be refreshing to your numerous readers to peruse one that has an air of truth. Such an one I propose to tell for their benefit. I have fished with flies in Keoka lake for bass the last ten years and every season usually brings some new experience with this gamey fish, but it was reserved for my "this spring's" (?) fishing to elapse anything heretofore and so utterly unexpected that I must ask you to print it. It takes not only a "lemon" but a whole box of them.

With the mercury this morning a few degrees above the freezing point, I donned my winter overcoat and mittens and with an oil stove in the center of my boat I started out for game. I was not successful in my quest and only one or two half-hearted rises rewarded my patient efforts and as the oil in my stove was beginning to get low, I "pulled for the shore."

When nearing the landing I saw several good sized fish floating on the surface. They proved to be two bass and one pickerel. I netted the three and found they were frozen stiff. I brought them ashore, built a little fire and thawed them out. They seemed pleased to feel warm and I wished that I was. The smaller bass (he was over ten inches) I toasted on a stick by my fire. It was a novel feast and I only missed a little salt.

After having thoroughly thawed the remaining two, I carefully roared them in the lake and returning to my hotel before a red hot stove related my novel experience, and my listeners all decided that for a day in June, to use a slang expression, it "took the cake."

Yours for truth's sake,
CHAS. W. STEVENS.

The Cotton Case.

The appealed case of State vs. Dennett Cotton for having liquor in his possession with intent to sell, also with single sale, was tried in Auburn.

This case has created considerable interest. On the morning of the trial, meeting in March, Ernest Churchill appeared upon the street in an intoxicated condition and was arrested by Deputy Sheriff George F. Millett, whom he told that he bought his liquor of Dennett Cotton. This caused a search of all teen bottles, whiskey and two bottles of wine were found buried in the hay in his barn.

The finding and seizing of this liquor was testified to by Deputy Millett and his assistant, Constable Carl W. Austin. Churchill testified as to his buying liquor of Cotton. Tison Waterman testified to his warning Cotton not to sell liquor; and Trial Justice Frank A. Millett testified to Cotton asking if the case could not be settled.

In defense Mr. Cotton admitted that he had the liquor, that he drank a little each day, but said that he never sold any. James P. Grant and Edward Churchill testified that they had chipped liquor for their own use. Mrs. Minnie Ellis, Cotton's daughter, testified as to time her father arose mornings to contradict the statement of Churchill as to the time he bought the liquor.

Cotton was not convicted, and the liquor ordered returned.

The bequest of $1,000 from the late Mrs. Mary N. Keith of Oxford for the benefit of the Oxford Congregational church, which has been held in trust by her daughter, Mrs. Charles A. Spring of Chicago, has now been paid to the Maine Missionary Society. In order that the annual income of $60, which the church has received from the fund, may be made permanent, Heloise E. Hersey of Boston, the granddaughter of Mrs. Keith, has kindly added $500 to the fund making $11,500, and rendering the bequest secure for the future benefit of the church.
